

Massachusetts Area Agency's on Aging (AAAs) and Aging Service Access Points (ASAPs)

Aging Services Access Points (ASAPs) are private, non-profit, state-designated agencies under contract with the MA Executive Office of Elder Affairs (EOEA) to provide a single-entry point for seniors to access a variety of programs and services.

Area Agency On Aging (AAAs) are designated by the EOEA and are responsible for planning and supporting social services and nutrition services under the Older Americans Act. AAAs grant or contract with public and private organizations to promote services for older persons.

ASAPs also serve as AAAs, but some areas in Massachusetts are served by separate agencies.

For your convenience, each of the listings below has been designated as an Area Agency on Aging (x) and/or an Aging Service Access Point (y). Each Listing is also directly linked to their website.
